Forecast for Thursday 19 Aug 2021

Weather: Generally a cloudy start, though some eastern areas may see some early sunshine at times. Through the morning thicker cloud will move in from the west bringing outbreaks of drizzle and poor visibility. A brighter afternoon with warm sunny spells and a risk of showers, perhaps heavy, into the evening.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 100% becoming 20% in the morning then 60% across the region after lunch.

Visibility: Good first thing with cloud bases above 800m, deteriorating as cloud bases lower to around 500m with drizzle through the morning covering most hill tops for a time. Improving as cloud breaks up and lifts to around 800m through the afternoon but suddenly deteriorating in any showers.
